Gibson Dunn announced today that Thomas Mastoras has joined the firm's New York office as a partner in its Liability Management and Special Situations Practice Group. Tom's practice focuses on liability management and restructuring transactions, hybrid capital, private equity, private credit, and public company finance. He joins a team that has consistently led the league tables in both Debtwire and Octus for creditor-side engagements and restructuring advisory mandates.

"Tom is a recognized debt finance lawyer who can guide clients across the credit cycle, from acquisition financings to liability management transactions and rescue financings," said Scott Greenberg, Global Chair of Gibson Dunn's Business Restructuring and Reorganization Practice Group. "With volatile credit markets driving client demand globally, that range adds a valuable dimension to our restructuring, liability management, and private equity work."

Tom represents credit investors, private equity sponsors, corporate borrowers, asset managers, direct lenders, and financial institutions across a full range of transactions, including acquisition financings, first- and second-lien facilities, holdco and bridge loans, private credit, asset-based lending, distressed financings, hybrid capital transactions, and workouts.

"I'm excited to begin the next chapter of my career at Gibson Dunn alongside this extremely talented group that has been at the forefront of market-defining restructurings," said Tom. "I look forward to working with my new colleagues as we help clients address their most challenging financing situations."

Tom joins from an international law firm. He previously served as a Vice President in Goldman Sachs' Investment Banking Division, bringing a commercial and investment banking perspective to his financing and restructuring practice.

Gibson Dunn's industry-leading Business Restructuring and Reorganization Practice Group advises on the largest and most complex restructurings globally, dominating the market in the U.S. and Europe. The group is widely recognized for its leadership in liability management transactions and other complex restructuring engagements.

The firm continues to invest in its global finance and restructuring capabilities. Tom's arrival follows the additions of partners Suzanne Thomson, Michael Schneidereit, Matthew Roose, Leo Plank, Andrew Cheng, Chris Howard, and Presley Warner.
