Media Highlight Gibson Dunn's Addition of High-Stakes Employment Litigator Eliza Kaiser in New York

In the Media | April 30, 2026

Eliza Kaiser's recent arrival as a partner in the firm's New York office generated prominent coverage from leading legal and industry publications, which highlighted her employment litigation experience and the growth of the firm's Labor and Employment Practice Group.

The New York Law Journal described Eliza as a "Chambers Band 5-ranked labor and employment attorney" who "represents employers in a variety of employment claims, including wage and hour violations, whistleblowing, discrimination, and more."

International Comparative Legal Guide reported that throughout her career, she has guided "clients on hiring and termination, employment contracts, disciplinary actions … employment policies and employment opportunities across several industries such as technology, financial services and professional services."

The New York Law Journal also quoted Jason Schwartz, co-chair of the firm's Labor and Employment Practice Group, on what Eliza brings to the firm: "Eliza is a standout employment litigator and exactly the kind of powerhouse talent who will complement and expand our New York capabilities."
