Media Highlight Gibson Dunn's Expansion of Its Tax Practice, Adding Rachel Kleinberg as Partner in Palo Alto

In the Media | January 9, 2026

Rachel Kleinberg's recent arrival as a partner in the firm's Palo Alto office drew coverage from leading legal and industry publications, many of which highlighted the continued growth of the firm's tax practice.

Law360 reported that Rachel's hire is part of the firm's effort to "bulk up" its tax practice. The outlet described her as a prominent lawyer whose work has involved "joint ventures, spinoffs and reorganizations, capital markets transactions, credit facilities, international tax matters and derivatives transactions."

In an interview with The Recorder, Eric Sloan, Co-Chair of the firm's Tax Practice Group, described Rachel as one of California's leading tax lawyers. "She further enhances our capabilities, both nationally and on the West Coast, and strengthens our ability to counsel clients on cross-border matters across our global platform," Sloan said.
