GIBSON DUNN

Partner Adam Smith Comments in Politico on Russia Sanctions Bill

In the Media | June 10, 2025

Politico

Commenting for an article in Politico on Senator Lindsey Graham's expansive Russia sanctions bill, which would see the U.S. impose 500% tariffs on countries that buy Russian energy and which appears to have widespread Congressional support, partner Adam Smith said, "There is a sense in the Senate that more sanctions on Russia need to be imposed, or ought to be imposed," and that Congress may be "pressuring the executive branch to act."

Read the full article, "Graham's 'Bone Crushing' Russia Sanctions Bill Could Freeze US Trade with the World's Largest Economies," in Politico.

Related Capabilities

Sanctions and Export Enforcement

Related People

Adam M. Smith

© 2026 Gibson, Dunn & Crutcher LLP. All rights reserved. For contact and other information, please visit us at www.gibsondunn.com. | www.gibsondunn.com