Gibson Dunn Advised Morgan Stanley’s 1GT Climate Private Equity Strategy on Series E Investment in Amber Electric

Firm News | September 29, 2026

Gibson Dunn advised 1GT, Morgan Stanley Investment Management's private climate equity strategy, on a Series E financing round for Amber Electric, an Australian energy flexibility platform that enables customers to optimize how they store and use energy at home. Founded in Melbourne in 2017, Amber is Australia's largest battery automation provider, with a leading market share of automated batteries. The investment will support Amber's continued growth and expansion into Europe, following a recent partnership with E.ON, which also participated in the round.

The Gibson Dunn team was led by partner Isabel Berger and included associates Caitlin Smith, Bansaree Shah, Carmen Heredia, and Willem van Hootegem. Partner Valeri Bozhikov advised on antitrust matters. Partner Trinh Chubbock advised on energy matters. Partner Lore Leitner advised on technology matters. Partners Dennis Seifarth, Kai Gesing, and Lars Petersen advised on German aspects of the transaction.
