

Gibson Dunn Named Litigation Department of the Year, Intellectual Property at American Lawyer Industry Awards

Accolades | November 17, 2025

The American Lawyer

Gibson Dunn was honored with the Litigation Department of the Year, Intellectual Property award at the American Lawyer Industry Awards.

Our firm was also a finalist for Litigation Department of the Year, General Litigation, and partner Lee Crain was a finalist in the Young Lawyer of the Year, Litigation category.

The awards, which “recognize outstanding achievements and contributions made by individuals, law firms, and legal departments across various practice areas and specialties,” also serve “as a means to inspire excellence and innovation within the legal industry.” Recipients “often set benchmarks for others to follow and contribute significantly to the advancement of the legal profession in the United States.”

The awards were presented on November 13, 2025.
