GIBSON DUNN

Gibson Dunn Represents Clearway Energy in Acquisition of Tuolumne Wind Project

Firm News | May 6, 2025

Gibson Dunn represented Clearway Energy, Inc. in its acquisition of the 137 MW Tuolumne Wind Project from Turlock Irrigation District. The Tuolumne Wind Project, located in Washington state, began commercial operation in 2009 and consists of 62 wind turbines. The project will sell power under an amended agreement with Turlock Irrigation District, with an option for a future repowering. Our team was led by partner Nick Politan and included of counsel Ata Dinlenc and associate Vlad Zinovyev. Partner William Hollaway and senior counsel Janine Durand advised on energy regulatory matters; associate Lauren Traina advised on real estate; and associate Josiah Bethards advised on tax.

Related People

Nicholas H. Politan Jr.

Ata Dinlenc

Vlad Zinovyev

William R. Hollaway Ph.D.

Janine Durand

Lauren Traina

Josiah Bethards

Related Capabilities

Power and Renewables

Energy Regulation and Litigation

Real Estate

Tax

© 2026 Gibson, Dunn & Crutcher LLP. All rights reserved. For contact and other information, please visit us at www.gibsondunn.com. | www.gibsondunn.com