

Harrison Tucker Discusses Crypto IPOs with Barron's

In the Media | August 18, 2025

Barron's

Partner Harrison Tucker recently spoke to Barron's about an increase in IPO activity, particularly among crypto-related firms looking to capitalize on the strong market and growing investor appetite for exposure to digital assets.

As Harrison told the publication: "The IPO market has been fairly open for the past three months, and crypto companies in particular have benefited from that... Investors want access to this nascent industry."
