About Gibson Dunn’s Anti-Money Laundering and White Collar Practices:

Gibson Dunn’s Anti-Money Laundering practice provides legal and regulatory advice to all types of financial institutions and nonfinancial businesses with respect to compliance with federal and state anti-money laundering laws and regulations, including the U.S. Bank Secrecy Act. We represent clients in criminal and regulatory government investigations and enforcement actions. We also conduct internal investigations involving money laundering and Bank Secrecy Act violations for a wide range of clients in the financial services industry and companies with multinational operations. For further information, please visit our practice page and feel free to contact Stephanie L. Brooker (+1 202.887.3502, sbrooker@gibsondunn.com) or M. Kendall Day (+1 202.955.8220, kday@gibsondunn.com) in Washington, D.C.

The White Collar Defense and Investigations Practice Group defends businesses, senior executives, public officials and other individuals in a wide range of investigations and prosecutions. The group is composed of more than 250 lawyers practicing across our U.S. and international offices and draws on the expertise of more than 75 of its members with extensive government experience. We provide white collar client services around the world, with certain of our non-U.S. locations offering particular capabilities. For example, our Hong Kong office leads Gibson Dunn’s anti-corruption and compliance practice for Asia and our London disputes lawyers work regularly with complex internal and regulatory investigations, with particular familiarity in cross-border investigations in the financial services sector.

About the Authors:

Stephanie Brooker is Co-Chair of Gibson Dunn's White Collar Defense and Investigations and Financial Institutions Practice Groups. She also co-leads the firm's Anti-Money Laundering practice. She is the former Director of the Enforcement Division at FinCEN, and previously served as the Chief of the Asset Forfeiture and Money Laundering Section in the U.S. Attorney's Office for the District of Columbia and as a DOJ trial attorney for several years. Ms. Brooker's practice focuses on internal investigations, regulatory enforcement defense, white-collar criminal defense, and compliance counseling. She handles a wide range of white collar matters, including representing financial institutions, multi-national companies, and individuals in connection with criminal, regulatory, and civil enforcement actions involving sanctions; anti-corruption; anti-money laundering (AML)/Bank Secrecy Act (BSA); securities, tax, and wire fraud; foreign influence; "me-too;" cryptocurrency; and other legal issues. Ms. Brooker's practice also includes BSA/AML and FCPA compliance counseling and deal due diligence and asset forfeiture matters. Ms. Brooker has been consistently recognized as a leading practitioner in the areas of white collar criminal defense and anti-money laundering compliance and enforcement defense. Chambers USA has ranked her and described her as an "excellent attorney," who clients rely on for "important and complex" matters, and noted that she provides "excellent service and terrific lawyering."
