

Jaysen Chung Quoted in Law360's "Fed. Circ. Won't Trade Detailed Verdicts for Efficiency"

In the Media | June 17, 2026

Law360

Partner Jaysen Chung is quoted in Law360's "Fed. Circ. Won't Trade Detailed Verdicts for Efficiency," (subscription required) which reports on the Federal Circuit faulting U.S. District Judge Rodney Gilstrap's use of jury verdict forms that collapse all infringement allegations down to checking simply "yes" or "no." The Federal Circuit said that frustration over lengthy trial times doesn't negate Seventh Amendment rights. Jaysen said that Seventh Amendment concerns could be at issue with certain types of eligibility decisions moving forward.

Related People

Jaysen S. Chung

Related Capabilities

Intellectual Property