"Danielle is a terrific addition to the firm," said Barbara L. Becker, Chair and Managing Partner of Gibson Dunn. "She has built a successful practice as the go-to lawyer for clients in the emerging technology, health and wellness, and lifestyle brand sectors. Her arrival will be an important step towards expanding our premier labor and employment practice in New York."

"We are thrilled to have Danielle join us," said Katherine V.A. Smith, Co-Chair of the Labor and Employment Practice Group. "Danielle is a unique talent with significant experience handling a wide range of employment matters from counselling clients to leading trials. Beyond her litigation experience, what sets Danielle apart is her passion for counseling clients on best practice measures such as the proper receipt and investigations of complaints, and the importance of diversity and inclusion across industries. She will work with Harris Mufson, who joined the firm last month, to strategically expand our market-leading labor and employment practice in New York."

"It is a very exciting time to be joining Gibson Dunn," said Moss. "I look forward to continuing to support clients navigating timely and important labor and employment issues alongside this highly talented team."

About Danielle J. Moss

Moss's labor and employment practice focuses on representing employers in disputes across a wide range of matters, including high stakes discrimination, harassment and retaliation claims, as well as wage and hour, noncompete and restrictive covenant issues. She has also led numerous highly sensitive internal investigations.

Before joining Gibson Dunn, Moss practiced with Proskauer Rose LLP since 2016. Prior to that, she served as a Felony Assistant District Attorney at the Kings County District Attorney's Office in Brooklyn, New York. Moss received her law degree from Brooklyn Law School in 2011.
