Theane Evangelis is a partner in the Los Angeles office of Gibson Dunn. She is Co-Chair of Gibson Dunn's global Litigation Practice Group and one of the country's leading litigators. Theane serves on the firm's Executive Committee, and she previously served as Co-Chair of the Class Actions Practice Group. She represents clients in federal and state courts throughout the nation in a wide spectrum of cases and has argued and won high-profile, groundbreaking appeals across the country, including in the Supreme Court of the United States. Theane's achievements have earned her accolades from leading national legal publications. Last year, she was honored as "Attorney of the Year" at the California Legal Awards, presented by Law.com and The Recorder, and she was selected by the Daily Journal as a California Lawyer Attorneys of the Year (CLAY) award winner.

Theane is also a member of the Appellate, Class Actions, Labor and Employment, Media, Entertainment, and Technology, and Crisis Management Practice Groups. She joined Gibson Dunn after serving as a law clerk to Justice Sandra Day O'Connor during October Term 2004 and as an associate with Ziffren Brittenham, a Los Angeles law firm specializing in entertainment and media transactions. Before clerking for Justice O'Connor, Theane was a law clerk on the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit.

Theane is ranked Band 1 by Chambers USA, with clients noting, "She's the person we turn to in a crisis, and the one who always picks up the phone, no matter the issue." She was recently awarded the 2026 Beacon of Justice award by Friends of the Los Angeles County Law Library for her contributions to the legal profession and public service. Law360 named her as an "Employment MVP" and has previously recognized her three times as a "Class Action MVP," and she was recognized by the National Law Journal as a 2023 "Employment Law Trailblazer. Benchmark Litigation has recognized Theane with several prestigious honors. She was named "Labor & Employment Litigator of the Year," listed among the country's "Top 10 Women in Litigation," and acknowledged as California's "Labor & Employment Litigation Attorney of the Year" for her leadership in significant bet-the-company matters. Additionally, she was included in Benchmark Litigation's "Top 50 Labor & Employment Litigators" list. Theane is also recognized by Lawdragon as one of "500 Leading Litigators in America," "500 Leading Corporate Employment Lawyers," "500 Leading Global Litigators," and "500 Global Leaders in Crisis Management." According to the Los Angeles Business Journal, which named Theane to its list of "Women of Influence: Attorneys" (2025 and 2026), "Top 100 Lawyers" list (2022 and 2025), "Leaders of Influence for Labor & Employment" list (2022), as well as naming Theane 2021 Labor and Employment "Lawyer of the Year"; she "has emerged as a go-to class action lawyer for businesses whose business models are under attack." The Daily Journal has included Theane in its annual list of "Leading Commercial Litigators" from 2023 – 2026. She was also recognized as a "Top 100 Lawyer" in California and credited with "keeping the wheels of the gig economy turning" from 2021 to 2026. Furthermore, she was named a "Top Woman Lawyer in California" for the years 2016 through 2026. In its annual Top Verdicts of California 2018 feature, the Daily Journal recognized Theane for three of her litigation successes where she was able to obtain record verdicts for clients

Uber, Kimberly-Clark, and Grubhub. Theane was also recognized by Best Lawyers as the 2023 Appellate Lawyer of the Year, selected by her peers for inclusion in The Best Lawyers in America ® in the field of Appellate Practice since 2014, and named "Los Angeles Appellate Lawyer of the Year" by Best Lawyers®. She was also recognized in the 2026 edition of The Best Lawyers® in America for her work in Employment Law – Management. In a published article by The Am Law Litigation Daily, Theane shared her experience of "handling three oral arguments in four cases for gig economy clients on back-to-back days in two separate circuit courts" in 2022.

In July 2024, Theane was selected by The American Lawyer as the "Litigator of the Week," in recognition of her victory before the Supreme Court of the United States in a landmark case with national implications on behalf of the City of Grants Pass, Oregon, which held that the Eighth Amendment does not prevent the enforcement of camping regulations on public property. Theane was previously recognized as a "Litigator of the Week" for her 2018 victory on behalf of Grubhub in the first federal case regarding the classification of workers in the "gig" economy. In 2018 and 2019, she was named as one of Los Angeles' Most Influential Women Attorneys by the Los Angeles Business Journal, an honor designated for only 75 of the city's most influential women attorneys. Theane was named by Euromoney Legal Media Group as the 2021 Litigation Lawyer of the Year at the Americas Women in Business Law Awards.
