Will Hallatt is a partner in the Hong Kong office of Gibson, Dunn & Crutcher LLP. He is Co-Chair of the firm's Financial Regulatory Practice Group globally and head of the Asia-Pacific Financial Regulatory practice. As a trusted advisor to the world's leading financial institutions, Will provides comprehensive contentious and advisory regulatory support to a diverse range of clients around the world. These include global investment banks, wholesale and retail banks, hedge funds, private wealth managers, investment managers, digital asset companies (including exchanges, stablecoin issuers, broker/dealers and asset managers), and major payments and fintech firms. Will also works closely with the firm's International Trade practice in relation to sanctions issues, particularly vis-à-vis Greater China risk.

Will has extensive experience in handling both internal and external regulatory investigations, in particular high-stakes enforcement matters brought by key financial services regulators, including the Hong Kong Securities & Futures Commission (SFC) and the Hong Kong Monetary Authority (HKMA). Prior investigations that Will has worked on cover issues such as digital asset licensing breaches, product mis-selling cases, IPO sponsor conduct, anti-money laundering and terrorist financing compliance, systems and controls failures, and cybersecurity incidents.

Will routinely advises on new regulatory developments and compliance advisory matters, as well as the extraterritorial impact of third-country regulation, such as MiFID II, the EU Benchmark Regulation, MiCA, and the GENIUS Act. He is a leading expert on culture, conduct and governance, having worked with regulatory bodies including the Financial Stability Board (FSB) on key reforms in this area. He has also led the industry response on a number of the most significant regulatory change issues in recent years, working closely with senior figures from major regulators, including the SFC, HKMA, Hong Kong Insurance Authority (IA) and the Monetary Authority of Singapore (MAS), together with leading industry associations, including the Asia Securities Industry & Financial Markets Association (ASIFMA) and the Alternative Investment Management Association (AIMA). In that regard Will is also a long-standing member of AIMA's Regulatory Committee in Hong Kong.

Will also has particular expertise in relation to the regulation of cryptocurrencies and other digital assets, and has advised the world's leading cryptocurrency exchanges as well as regulated financial institutions on a range of key strategic matters in this space. This includes advising cryptocurrency exchanges on regulatory restructurings, high profile regulatory investigations, and the handling of licence applications in multiple jurisdictions. Will also frequently works with Gibson Dunn's leading Funds Management team to advise investors on their investments into cryptocurrency-focused funds and the regulatory issues associated with such investments.

Will is highly ranked for both contentious and non-contentious regulatory work in Chambers Greater China Region and Chambers FinTech. Will is also named as a leading partner for fintech and financial services in The Legal 500. A client notes that: "William has his ear to the ground when it comes to regulatory developments across Asia. He is the first person I speak to concerning regulatory developments and his advice is always practical and measured. His experience in regulatory investigations allows him to think several steps ahead as to where an investigation is heading." Will is also "particularly adept at engaging with regulators such as the Hong Kong Securities & Futures Commission as well as the Hong Kong Monetary Authority." In 2025, Will was also named as one of 10 Power Players globally in Financial Services Regulation, recognizing his influential role in shaping the future of financial regulation in AI, FinTech, and digital assets.

Before joining Gibson Dunn, Will served as a partner at Herbert Smith Freehills, where he was head of the firm's Financial Services Regulatory practice in Asia. He began his legal career at Linklaters in London.

Will received his law degree from the University of Leeds in 2001. He is admitted as a Solicitor of the Senior Courts of England and Wales and as a Solicitor of the High Court of Hong Kong.
