Jaclyn Hellreich is an associate in the New York office of Gibson, Dunn & Crutcher where she currently practices in the firm's Intellectual Property Practice Group. Jaclyn has experience in a wide variety of IP litigation matters in various courts including Western and Eastern Districts of Texas, the District of Delaware, and the Northern District of California. She also has extensive experience litigating in the U.S. International Trade Commission, and the Patent Trial and Appeal Board of the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office. Jaclyn has worked on cases covering a wide range of technologies including network communication, computer architecture, software, fintech, and medical devices. In addition, Jaclyn has frequently advised clients on strategic issues related to intellectual property rights.

Jaclyn's pro bono work includes representing clients in defamation suits, public housing disputes, immigration proceedings, and domestic violence matters. She also advises small businesses on data, privacy and IP matters.

She received her Juris Doctor, magna cum laude, from Brooklyn Law School in 2019. At Brooklyn Law School, Jaclyn was an Associate Managing Editor for the Brooklyn Law Review. Her student paper was presented at the NYCLA's CLE Security in a Cyber World. Prior to law school, she received a B.S. in Biology from SUNY Geneseo and presented her scientific research at the Experimental Biology Conference in 2014 (San Diego) and 2015 (Boston).

Jaclyn is admitted to practice before the Southern and Eastern District Court of New York as well as New York state courts.

Prior to joining Gibson Dunn, she was an associate in the IP Litigation Department of Cadwalader, Wickersham & Taft in New York.
