Clementine Hollyer is an English qualified associate in the London office of Gibson, Dunn & Crutcher, practising in the firm's Dispute Resolution Group.

Clementine has broad commercial litigation and regulatory experience, including work across the technology, retail and financial insurance sectors. Recent work has included supporting a major technology platform in a significant regulatory investigation, and advising a global insurance and professional services provider responding to the collapse of a major FinTech company and the ensuing investigations and proceedings. She has also assisted a leading multinational retailer in large scale equal pay litigation, and supported clients through CMA, SFO and FCA investigations.

She trained at Gibson Dunn, during which she completed a six month secondment to the firm's Hong Kong office and gained experience with the Labour & Employment and Competition & Antitrust teams.

She also maintains an active pro bono practice, working alongside organisations such as REDRESS, Human Dignity Trust, Prisoners' Advice Service, Safe Passage and Refugee Legal Support.
