Scott Hvidt is a partner in the Dallas office of Gibson, Dunn & Crutcher. He practices in the firm's Litigation Department and is a member of the Antitrust and Competition Practice Group. He maintains a broad-based antitrust and trial practice, including litigation in state and federal courts, merger and acquisition investigations and trials, and antitrust counseling.

Scott has experience in a wide range of antitrust and business litigation matters in both state and federal courts. He has represented clients in various cases involving class actions, antitrust claim, shareholder derivative actions, securities fraud, contract disputes, merger and acquisition litigation, property rights disputes, and tortious interference claims. Scott has significant experience managing sophisticated clients through all stages of legal disputes: from advise and business strategy surrounding legal questions to trial and appeal. Scott proudly maintains an active pro bono practice.

Scott has been recognized by Best Lawyers: Ones to Watch® in America for Litigation-Antitrust (2022-2025), and D Magazine Best Lawyers Under 40 (2025).

Prior to joining Gibson Dunn, Scott served as a law clerk to the Honorable A. Joe Fish of the United States District Court for the Northern District of Texas. Before entering law school, he worked as a litigation paralegal in the New York office of DLA Piper LLP and managed a two-week arbitration.

In 2015, Scott graduated from Columbia Law School, where he earned the James Kent academic distinction. He received the Julius Silver Foundation Award for best student note for Columbia's Science and Technology Law Review. Scott also served as the Executive Articles Editor for Columbia's Science and Technology Law Review. While in law school, he worked as an extern for the Honorable Debra Livingston of the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit, and worked for the Lawyering in the Digital Age Clinic, where he represented a homeless disabled man in his successful appeal for supplemental security income.

Scott received his Bachelor of Arts in History from Princeton University, where he wrote for the sports section of The Daily Princetonian, played on the varsity men's water polo team that took third place in the 2009 NCAA Final Four, and received the Scott Roche Award as a member of that team. Scott is happily married to his wife Jane and has four children (a son and three daughters).

He is a member of the State Bar of Texas.
