Erin Kim is an associate in the New York office of Gibson, Dunn & Crutcher. She currently practices with the firm's Intellectual Property Practice Group. Erin has a wide base of experience in all stages of intellectual property litigation, and has been a member of multiple trial teams. She also has experience in various federal courts, including the Eastern and Western Districts of Texas, the District of Delaware, and the Northern and Central Districts of California. Erin has worked on cases for high-tech, media, and consumer product clients, addressing patent, trademark, and other intellectual property issues.

Erin joined the firm in 2023 after serving as a law clerk for the Honorable Eric N. Vitaliano of the United States District Court for the Eastern District of New York.

Erin received her Juris Doctor, cum laude, in 2022 from New York University School of Law, where she was an Articles Editor of the New York University Law Review. She was also a Robert McKay Scholar and a recipient of the Edmond Cahn Law Review Award. While in law school, Erin served as a civil litigation intern with the U.S. Attorney's Office for the Southern District of New York.

Erin received her Bachelor of Arts in English Language and Literature with departmental and general honors in 2016 from the University of Chicago.

Erin is admitted to practice in the State of New York.
