Darren LaVerne is a partner in Gibson Dunn's New York office and a member of the firm's Trials, White Collar Defense and Investigations, Securities Enforcement, Litigation, and Appellate and Constitutional Law practices. A former federal prosecutor, Darren is a seasoned trial attorney who brings zealous advocacy, strategic insight, and creative thinking to all phases of a case. Darren draws on years of experience representing major corporations, top executives, and public officials dealing with complex and sometimes existential crises. He has achieved remarkable results – whether by warding off charges and claims before they are filed, relentlessly opposing government overreach and fighting for clients in court, or crafting original and persuasive legal arguments on appeal. His exceptional work in white-collar criminal defense and government investigations has earned him recognition from Chambers USA, where sources have praised him as “a tremendous lawyer” and “a wonderful writer with an amazing work ethic.” He also contributed to the 2024 Chambers Global Practice Guide on White-Collar Crime – USA: New York, offering insights into recent enforcement trends and developments in the field. Darren has also been recognized as a Litigation Star by Benchmark Litigation. In addition to litigating in trial and appellate courts around the country, Darren has represented international clients under investigation in the United States, as well as in arbitral hearings overseas.

Darren draws on his prior experience as a federal prosecutor in the U.S. Attorney's Office for the Eastern District of New York, where, from 2010 to 2016, he led numerous successful criminal prosecutions involving wire fraud, bank fraud, tax fraud, bribery, money laundering, racketeering, crimes of violence, environmental crimes, and other offenses. Notably, he was part of the core team of prosecutors who built and charged the case against over 40 FIFA soccer officials and sports marketing executives around the world, one of the most significant and complex prosecutions in the office's history. During his tenure, Darren conducted several jury trials, all resulting in convictions, including a month-long racketeering trial where he served as lead counsel. Darren also represented the government on appeal, arguing and briefing cases before the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit.

Providing pro bono assistance to clients who cannot afford legal counsel has always been a critical part of Darren's practice. Early in his career, he was part of a team that filed habeas corpus petitions and eventually secured the release of four prisoners held without charge in Guantánamo Bay, Cuba, where he travelled four times in the course of the representation. Darren has served as a member of the Criminal Justice Act Panel of the U.S. District Court for the Southern District of New York, and as pro bono co-counsel to the Legal Aid Society, representing indigent clients in criminal matters. He has twice been awarded the Pro Bono Publico Award by Legal Aid for his efforts, during which he has briefed and argued cases in the Appellate Division and Court of Appeals, New York State's highest court. Darren is a member of the New York Council of Defense Lawyers. He has served as a board member for the City Bar Fund and the Fund for Modern Courts, and is a member of the Lawyers Council for the Citizens Crime Commission of New York.

Prior to joining Gibson Dunn, Darren was a Partner in the New York office of a major law firm.
