Andrew Mitchell is a litigation associate in the Dallas office of Gibson Dunn.

Andrew's practice focuses on representing both plaintiffs and defendants in complex commercial litigation and high-stakes business disputes in federal and state courts. He has significant experience preparing complex cases for trial and handling disputes across all phases of litigation. He has also litigated appeals and critical motions in federal and state courts across the country.

Recent Representative Matters:

- Trial counsel for Energy Transfer and Sea Robin Pipeline in a contract dispute with Enterprise Products over the Sea Robin Gas Processing Plant. After a 10-day jury trial in Vermilion Parish, Louisiana, obtained a verdict that rejected Enterprise's claim for more than $9 million in damages and awarded lost profits to Sea Robin Pipeline. Energy Transfer GC NGLs, LLC v. Enterprise Gas Processing, LLC, No. C-114768 (15th Jud. Dist. Ct., Vermilion Parish, La.).
- Trial counsel for the minority owner and former CEO of Cicis Pizza in a dispute with the majority owner over self-dealing and withheld distributions. After a 7-day jury trial in Dallas County, obtained a $46 million verdict plus a $9 million attorneys' fees award and defeated all counterclaims. Judgment was entered in January 2026, and the case is on appeal. GCP Cici's v. Dharod, No. DC-24-01196 (Dallas Cty. Dist. Ct.).
- Won summary judgment for GE Vernova on more than $400 million in claimed damages in a fraud case involving plans to construct power plants using adapted jet engines.
- Secured a favorable settlement for Howmet Aerospace in Pennsylvania state court in a breach of contract and fraud dispute.
- Led settlement negotiations that favorably resolved a dispute over genetic testing of animals for a Texas game ranch.

Before joining Gibson Dunn, Andrew served as a law clerk to the Honorable Raymond M. Kethledge of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit and the Honorable Mark T. Pittman of the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of Texas.

Andrew earned his J.D., with Honors, from the University of Texas School of Law, where he was elected to the Order of the Coif and served as Chief Notes Editor of the Texas Law Review. He received his Bachelor of Science from Texas Christian University, where he was a member of the varsity baseball team and was selected to the USA Baseball Collegiate National Team. Prior to law school, Andrew played professional baseball in the Chicago White Sox organization.
