Martina Monti is an associate attorney in the New York office of Gibson, Dunn & Crutcher. She is a member of the firm's International Arbitration Practice Group.

Martina focuses her practice on international commercial and investor-state arbitrations. She has advised clients in proceedings conducted under the major arbitration rules, including the UNCITRAL, ICSID, ICC, ICDR, and LCIA Rules. She also has experience in disputes relating to energy, mining, construction, intellectual property, consumer products, and financial services.

Martina also maintains a significant pro bono practice and was awarded the 2019 TrustLaw Lawyer of the Year award from the Thomson Reuters Foundation for her work on rural education in Argentina.

Martina earned her Master of Laws (LL.M.) degree in 2022 from Harvard Law School, where she acted as Vice-President of Alumni & Sponsor Relations for the Harvard International Arbitration Law Students Association. She earned her law degree, magna cum laude, in 2017 from Universidad de San Andrés in Argentina. Prior to joining Gibson Dunn, Martina was an associate in a leading Argentine law firm, where she specialized in International Arbitration, Domestic Litigation, and Compliance & Investigations. She was also an Executive Board member of Argentina Very Young Arbitration Practitioners and the coordinator of the Youth Committee of a domestic mediation and arbitration institution in Argentina.

Martina is fluent in English and Spanish, and is admitted to practice in the Autonomous City of Buenos Aires and in the State of New York.
