Molly Lorente Sorolla is an associate in the Palo Alto office of Gibson Dunn. She practices in the firm's Litigation Department. Her primary practice areas are Securities Litigation and White Collar Defense & Investigations. She has experience litigating claims under Sections 11 and 15 of the Securities Act of 1933 arising out of initial public offerings, and has defended a prominent biotech company, a venture capital firm, a professional sports team, a professional athlete, and a global gaming company in federal securities class actions. She also represented a leading communications platform in connection with a U.S. Department of Justice investigation.

Molly received her Juris Doctor from Harvard Law School, where she served as Submissions Manager for the Journal of Law & Technology and Co-President of the Antitrust Association, represented inmates in disciplinary and parole hearings as a Student Attorney for the Prison Legal Assistance Project, and worked as a Teaching Fellow for two classes on privacy and technology. She received her Bachelor of Arts degree with Highest Honors from the University of California, Berkeley in Cognitive Science.

She is admitted to practice in the State of California.
