Christine Ranney is a partner in the Denver office and a member of the firm's Intellectual Property Practice Group. She focuses on patent and appellate litigation and is knowledgeable across a range of arts and practices, including pharmaceuticals, biotechnology, consumer goods, software, and telecommunications. Christine has experience in all phases of litigation from pre-suit diligence to appeal, including managing discovery, taking and defending depositions, working with experts, drafting dispositive motions, arguing discovery motions, Markman hearings, and pre- and post-trial motions, conducting direct and cross-examination of expert witnesses at trial, and drafting appellate briefs. She also has substantial experience handling proceedings before the Patent Trial and Appeal Board, including inter partes review and post-grant review petitions, often in parallel with ongoing high-stakes litigation.

Christine is recognized by Best Lawyers: Ones to Watch® in America for Appellate Practice, Life Sciences Practice, and Litigation – Patent and has been listed in the publication since 2022. Managing IP Handbook named Christine as a 2025 IP Star, and the Denver Business Journal named her to their 40 Under 40 class of 2025.

Representative matters:

- Represented Sun Pharma in a high-profile patent litigation brought by Incyte seeking to bar Sun from launching its branded alopecia drug Leqselvi. Obtained a rare ruling from the bench vacating the injunction and a written order issued the same day, permitting Sun to launch immediately and without waiting for the mandate to issue.
- Represented Cisco in several patent cases filed by Lionra in the Eastern District of Texas. Won summary judgment of non-infringement before trial.
- Secured one of the largest defense victories in patent litigation history for clients EMD Serono, Inc. and Pfizer Inc. in a suit brought by Biogen MA Inc. seeking more than $5.4 billion in damages for infringement of a patent relating to the use of recombinant DNA technology in the treatment of Multiple Sclerosis.
- Obtained early Section 101 dismissal for Slack Technologies in infringement suit related to Slack's eponymous communications platform.
- Obtained favorable bench ruling and Federal Circuit affirmance for Novartis Pharmaceuticals Corporation in litigation enforcing patent covering Novartis's $3 billion Multiple Sclerosis drug GILENYA®.
- Obtained critical victory for Assertio Therapeutics, Inc. (formerly Depomed, Inc.) in Hatch-Waxman litigation concerning Assertio's most important asset, the opioid drug NUCYNTA®.
- Represented Uber in multiple patent infringement litigations in the Eastern and Western Districts of Texas, obtaining transfer to California in one and favorable
