Grace Summers is an Associate in Gibson Dunn's Denver office where she currently practices in the firm's Litigation Department.

Grace earned her J.D. cum laude from Harvard Law School in 2024. In law school, Grace spent three semesters with the Emmett Environmental Law and Policy Clinic, where her work included a semester working in the Massachusetts Attorney General's office and the drafting of two amicus briefs filed in the United States Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit and the United States Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals. She was also a member of the Women's Law Association and worked with the Mississippi Delta Project, a student practice organization focused on supporting underserved communities in the Mississippi Delta region.

Prior to law school, Grace spent four years with Deloitte Consulting as a strategy and operations consultant for Fortune 500 clients. She also spent three years serving as the CEO of a small trade organization in Sun Valley, Idaho. Grace graduated summa cum laude and Phi Beta Kappa from Denison University, where she earned a Bachelor of Arts degree in English and Environmental Studies.
