Tim Windfelder is a corporate associate in the Munich office of Gibson Dunn. He is a member of the firm's Mergers and Acquisitions, Private Equity and Projects and Infrastructure Practice Groups.

Tim represents both public and private companies and financial sponsors in connection with mergers, acquisitions, joint ventures, leveraged buyouts, minority investments, management programs, and all other kinds of M&A and PE transactions. He also advises clients with respect to governance and general corporate matters.

Prior to joining Gibson Dunn, Tim studied law at the Ludwig Maximilian University in Munich and at the Université Jean-Moulin-Lyon-III in Lyon. During his studies and his legal clerkship, he gathered work experience at renowned law firms in Munich and New York City. He has been admitted as a German lawyer (Rechtsanwalt) since 2023. In the following year, Tim obtained his Master of Laws (LL.M.) degree from NYU School of Law focusing on corporate law and core American law courses, allowing him to successfully pass the New York Bar Exam.

After completing his LL.M., Tim joined the New York office of Gibson Dunn as Visiting Attorney, working on infrastructure transactions for financial sponsors in the U.S. and Latin America. He transferred to the Munich office in 2025.

In addition to his native German, Tim speaks English and French.
