GIBSON DUNN

Robert Blume Co-Authors “How to Score the Value of a Compliance Program” for Dow Jones Risk Journal

Publications | November 16, 2026

Dow Jones Risk Journal

Partner Robert Blume and Nscale chief legal officer Adam Rosman have co-authored “How to Score the Value of a Compliance Program,” the second in a three-part series on measuring the value of a compliance program, for the Dow Jones Risk Journal (subscription required). In this article, they define a simple, one-page way to measure what a compliance program prevents and describe how defend the budget behind it.

Read the first article in the series, “The Value of Nothing Bad Happening” (subscription required).

Related People

Robert C. Blume

© 2026 Gibson, Dunn & Crutcher LLP. All rights reserved. For contact and other information, please visit us at www.gibsondunn.com. | www.gibsondunn.com