Law360 Pulse

Partner Vivek Mohan and Chief Legal Operations Officer Meredith Williams-Range are among the co-authors of Law360 Pulse's [PDF] "Law Firm AI Rollouts Depend on Buy-In, Not Bigger Budgets," which references a Chambers and Partners report that surveyed 4,853 associates across 64 top U.S. firms on their experience using AI in day-to-day work.

They noted that while there is "a degree of broad, market-level skepticism toward AI across the general associate population," the survey "also revealed that some firms' approach to AI integration can serve as a blueprint for what works when it comes to successful use of AI and how firms can ensure that lawyers at all levels can confidently use the new technology."

Gibson Dunn is the only firm ranked Band 1 by Chambers USA for our AI practice while also being in the Chambers top 10 for AI innovation and adoption.
