The Dow Jones Risk Journal published remarks made by partner Vivek Mohan at the recent Dow Jones Risk Journal Summit in New York. He spoke about the challenges faced by companies attempting to balance the drive for innovation with evolving legal and regulatory changes.

“Penalties for noncompliance can sometimes be a cost of doing business; perfection is very hard,” Vivek said. “But when you get to the place where there are limitations on your ability to make decisions, launch new products or services, or run the business the way you want, that is actually I think the hammer that keeps CEOs and other leadership up at night.”

Vivek is Co-Chair of our Artificial Intelligence Practice Group.
