

Webcast: Consumer Protection and Enforcement – Trends and Expectations

Webcasts | March 11, 2025

Consumer protection investigations and enforcement actions are on the rise. Led by the DOJ, FTC, CFPB, and State Attorneys General, these actions create high-stakes criminal and civil risks for companies and executives. Featuring experienced practitioners and former officials from DOJ's Consumer Protection Branch and the FTC, this webcast discusses trends in the enforcement of consumer health, safety, fraud, and privacy laws. Presenters explain how enforcers initiate and resolve investigations, identify common pitfalls in investigative responses, and share thoughts on the management of consumer-affecting crisis situations—which often give rise to a swirl of negative press, regulatory action, class litigation, and investigations. Presenters also discuss expectations for consumer protection enforcement under the Trump Administration. This webcast provides critical takeaways for companies in the consumer products, life sciences, and tech sectors.
