

Webcast: What Does the CSRD Mean for U.S. Businesses?

Webcasts | November 21, 2024

Please join us for a 60-minute webcast where we will explore the common challenges facing U.S. businesses subject to the European Union's Corporate Sustainability Reporting Directive, or CSRD. We will delve into CSRD reporting approaches and considerations, the implications of the double materiality assessment, and the interplay of the CSRD with other reporting regimes and voluntary initiatives. This session is designed for U.S.-based companies expecting to report under the CSRD and will provide recommendations and practical insights to support in-house counsel, sustainability teams, and corporate advisors who are or may soon be preparing for the CSRD and the shift to mandatory sustainability reporting.
