

Who's Who Legal 2022 Recognizes Gibson Dunn Partners in Energy

Accolades | June 16, 2022

Who's Who Legal

Seven Gibson Dunn partners were featured by Who's Who Legal in its Energy 2022 guide. Houston partners Michael P. Darden and Hillary Holmes were recommended in Energy – Oil & Gas. Houston partner Tull Florey was recommended in Energy – Oil & Gas, Energy – Power/Electricity, and Energy – Renewables. London partner Anna Howell was recommended in Energy – Oil & Gas. Singapore partner Brad Roach was recommended in Energy – Oil & Gas and Energy – Power/Electricity. Washington, D.C. partners William Scherman and William Hollaway were recommended in Energy – Oil & Gas and Energy – Power/Electricity, respectively. The list was published in May 2022. Gibson Dunn's Energy Practice Group has a wide array of experience across all parts of the energy sector – from traditional sources of energy such as oil and gas and electric utilities to renewable forms such as solar and wind. The firm has handled energy-related matters involving numerous practice areas, including mergers, acquisitions and divestitures; debt and project finance; capital markets; joint ventures; fund formation; project and infrastructure development; dispute resolution; commercial arrangements; and all manners of energy-related regulatory and antitrust issues. This experience enables us to provide clients with a deep bench that is unique among law firms.

Related People

Michael P. Darden

Hillary H. Holmes

Tull Florey

William R. Hollaway Ph.D.

Related Capabilities

Energy and Infrastructure

Oil and Gas

Capital Markets

Mergers and Acquisitions

Energy Regulation and Litigation

Power and Renewables