

Who's Who Legal Recognizes Six Gibson Dunn Partners in its 2023 Energy Guide

Accolades | July 18, 2023

Who's Who Legal

Six Gibson Dunn partners were featured by Who's Who Legal in its 2023 Energy guide. Houston partner Michael P. Darden, London partner Anna Howell and Singapore partner Brad Roach were named Global Elite Thought Leaders. Houston partners Tull Florey and Hillary Holmes, and Washington, D.C. partner William Hollaway were also recommended. The list was published in July 2023. Gibson Dunn's Energy Practice Group has a wide array of experience across all parts of the energy sector – from traditional sources of energy such as oil and gas and electric utilities to renewable forms such as solar and wind. The firm has handled energy-related matters involving numerous practice areas, including mergers, acquisitions and divestitures; debt and project finance; capital markets; joint ventures; fund formation; project and infrastructure development; dispute resolution; commercial arrangements; and all manners of energy-related regulatory and antitrust issues. This experience enables us to provide clients with a deep bench that is unique among law firms.

Related People

Michael P. Darden

Anna Howell

Tull Florey

Hillary H. Holmes

William R. Hollaway Ph.D.

Related Capabilities

Energy and Infrastructure