Accolades | September 24, 2020

World Tax and International Tax Review

World Tax, in association with the International Tax Review, has named London partner Sandy Bhogal and Hong Kong partner Elaine Chen among its 2021 Tax Leaders. Sandy Bhogal was ranked Highly Regarded for the United Kingdom in World Tax's Tax Controversy Leaders guide, and Elaine Chen was ranked Highly Regarded for Hong Kong in the Women in Tax Leaders guide. World Tax's Tax Controversy Leaders guide was published on September 1, 2020, and the Women in Tax Leaders guide was published on September 17, 2020.

Sandy Bhogal's experience ranges from general corporate tax advice to transactional advice on matters involving corporate finance & capital markets, structured and asset finance, insurance and real estate. He also has significant experience with corporate tax planning and transfer pricing, as well as with advising on the development of domestic and cross border tax efficient structures. He also assists clients with tax authority enquiries, wider tax risk management and multi-lateral tax controversies.

Elaine Chen represents companies and high-net-worth individuals in civil and commercial litigation and disputes, including a full range of banking, contractual, tort, companies, trust and tax matters. She has particular experience in tax, contentious probate and estate administration, mental health, private wealth, and boardroom and shareholders disputes. She has acted as legal adviser to many Hong Kong and overseas-listed corporations and financial institutions, and ultra-high net worth individuals and trusts and has wide-ranging experience in challenging big ticket litigation.
